

Are you in search of a more Super Sunday? Is taking your usual place on the couch and building a tableside mountain range of snack bags and beer losing its appeal? Well, my friend, how about watching the game with your family and pals on a really big screen at Arlington Lanes surrounded by a spectacular array of sports, dining and entertainment items?

You can! Join the fun at the Schaumburg-Hoffman Lions Club Football Sunday Party & Silent Auction and enjoy the game, with good food, plenty of friends, bowling at special rates and a spectacular auction benefitting the Little Angels Center for Exceptional Care (www.littleangels.org). Bid during the festivities on more than 50 silent auction items; including Clubhouse box seats at Arlington Park for 6, bowling parties at several local lanes, dinner certificates at many of the area's finer restaurants, Drury Lane theater tickets, two round-trip tickets on Southwest Airlines (an $800 value!); a Wisconsin Dells package; family admission tickets for the Shedd Aquarium, Metropolis Performing Arts Center, Lincolnshire Theater, Milwaukee Zoo and more; plus many, many more terrific packages.

Adult tickets are a super affordable $20 ($25 after 1/22/12) with kids under 12 only $13 ($15 after 1/22/12) so you can bring you whole gang and your neighbors for an afternoon you'll remember long after the football score is forgotten. It starts at 4 PM, Sunday February 5 at Arlington Lanes, 3435 N. Kennicott, in Arlington Heights.

Call now at 224-402-2153 for tickets or order online at www.shlions.org . You'll have more fun than you will on the couch – and you'll be helping some very special disabled children and adults in the process. "Be an Angel," join us and bring your friends!
